

Exposure Science Perspectives on Ethics and Water

Courtney Carignan

This flash talk will raise ethical considerations encountered as an exposure scientist investigating drinking water contaminants (e.g., arsenic, PFAS) inclusive of environmental sampling, human biomonitoring, information sharing and report-back, and public health action.